Finances and Service

Any business, large or small, must ultimately fail if its expense of operation is in excess of its revenues.

In the case of our Company the service is involved as well as the financial factor. Telephone service is dependent upon the condition of the plant, the efficiency of the employees and the solvency of the Company.

Inadequate revenues must eventually result in poor maintenance of plant, wages too low to attract the most competent employees, and aloofness of capital when it is required for plant extensions to meet the needs of growing communities.

These conditions make it impossible to render the class of service demanded by the public. And these are the conditions threatening the Telephone Company now under its tremendously increased costs and with revenues remaining at a pre-war level.

Gradually operating costs advanced, narrowing the margin between revenue and expense, crossed the line and still continued upward until we are now operating under a deficit of alarming proportions.

This creates a problem in which the public and the Company are mutually interested.

CEMENT HOIST FALLS WHEN WIND BREAKS GUY WIRE

E. Grow was slightly injured and another workman narrowly escaped death yesterday afternoon at the site of the Globe Grain & Milling company elevators, which are now under construction. The wind, which assumed the proportions of a hurricane in that part of the country, caused a guy wire to break, allowing a 200-foot concrete hoist to fall to the ground.

The high cement hoist, which was being used in the construction of large tanks, parted about 20 feet from its base and crashed to the ground. Grow was slightly injured when the derrick fell.

The wind tore loose a section of a ladder connecting one of the 100-foot tanks with the ground. Six men who were working on top of the structure were isolated.

A workman, standing on the ladder just below the section that was torn away by the wind, narrowly escaped being dashed to the ground.

Officials of the company estimate that the damage to the structure will amount to about $2,000, besides the loss in time and labor in the construction of a new derrick.
